We provide our clients with the advantages of personal service and attention afforded a smaller firm coupled with the capabilities and expertise of a large firm.

Our firm has managed cases throughout California for over 25 years and has been able to meet clients' specialized defense needs on a cost-effective basis.

Our attorneys are technical and strategic experts that know how to successfully defend our clients in the ever-changing world of worker's compensation and subrogation.

We are service-minded, accessible and responsive to the needs of our clients and the community we serve.

Serving all of California, with offices in:
San Diego | San Francisco | Riverside | Sacramento
