

Philip Hermanson

Partner | San Diego workers' compensation defense attorney

An expert at handling employer-run programs, Phil is very successful at closing down claims quickly and as cost-effectively as possible.

Professional History

After graduating from San Diego State University in 2008, Phil attended Thomas Jefferson Law School and graduated Cum laude in 2013. He began his career defending Workers' Compensation claims for grocery chains, self-insured pools, manufacturing and transportation companies. Phil also continues to serve in the United States Air Force Reserves and brings the same strong work ethic defending cases and representing his clients.
